

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A USB plug and memory card combination is characterized in an integrally formed metal housing that encloses
5 electrically connected insert of a USB plug and memory card therein, so as to eliminate any stepped neck portion from the metal housing. The metal housing provides good structural strength and has reduced volume adapted to embed in a machine, enabling the USB plug and memory
10 card combination to be widely used as the memory unit of many compact and portable electronic products.